

STOMACH TROUBLE

Mr. W. E. Waterhouse Cured By Vinol
After Everything Else Had Failed.

Mr. Waterhouse says: "I suffered so long with indigestion and stomach trouble that I lost 71 pounds in weight. I had used all kinds of remedies without help. Vinol was recommended and I decided to try it. I soon commenced to feel better, my stomach trouble disappeared and I can eat heartily without the slightest distress. My experience leads me to believe that no medicine equals Vinol for stomach troubles and indigestion. It tones up the stomach, increases the appetite and creates strength."

Mr. Wells, of the firm of Rickert & Wells, our local druggists, says: "It is no wonder Vinol cures such cases as that of Mr. Waterhouse when you consider that

W. E. WATERHOUSE.

Vinol contains, in a highly concentrated form, all of the strengthening, healing properties of that famous old remedy, cod liver oil, without a drop of oil or grease to nauseate and upset the stomach, and this is why it cures when sickening drugs, emulsions and old forms of cod liver oil fail.

"Vinol is easily digested, it heals and tones up the tired, worn nerves of the stomach, creates a healthy appetite and makes pure, rich, red blood."

"At any rate," said Mr. Wells, "if there is a person in Barre, suffering from stomach trouble, we ask him or her to try Vinol on our guarantee to return money if it fails. This is a fair and square offer made in good faith." Rickert & Wells, Druggists.

MORGAN'S KISS FOR DOANE.

Extraordinary Greeting Between the Bishop and Financier at Albany.

When J. P. Morgan's special train arrived at Albany the other day, four hours late. It was met by Bishop Doane of Albany, Mrs. Doane, Coadjutor Bishop Nelson and Dean Talbot, of All Saints' cathedral, says the New York World.

When Bishop Doane and Mr. Morgan met they embraced and kissed each other. The demonstration of brotherly affection was seen by a number of clergymen of All Saints' cathedral, Superintendent Harrington of the New York Central and one or two others. The clergymen regarded the greeting as a matter of form, but the laymen were greatly surprised at the sight of the bishop and the noted financier in affectionate embrace.

When the train pulled into the station the bishop hurried up the platform to the middle car. There he caught sight of Mr. Morgan, who was stepping on to the platform of the car. Before Mr. Morgan could reach the steps the bishop had bounded up and had his arm around his shoulders. Mr. Morgan embraced the bishop, and the two kissed each other on the cheek. They then went nimbly down the steps to the station platform.

CAMEL RANCH FOR KANSAS.

Showman Expects to Capture Wild Arizona Camels to Stock It.

On the banks of the Arkansas river in Kearney county, Kan., the only camel breeding ranch in the world is soon to be established, says a Topeka dispatch to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. The most remarkable fact in connection with this new industry is that the animals which are to be used in establishing the ranch are to be captured from the herd of wild camels in Arizona and Mexico.

This camel hunt will be the second one ever held in America. The first was under the direction of Allen Sells, the former showman, and resulted in the capture of nineteen camels. The second hunt will be conducted by his son, Willie Sells, who has made a fortune in the circus business. He was only ten years old at the time of the former hunt, but he remembers the details, and he will not vary from the plan executed by his father.

The wild camels of Arizona and Mexico are the remnant of two bands of the animals turned loose to shift for themselves thirty or forty years ago. The first animals were given their liberty by the government after an unsuccessful attempt to use them in carrying government stores across the Arizona deserts. Later a Frenchman who used camels on those deserts had his business destroyed by the transcontinental railways, and he turned his hand into the desert.

Willie Sells was present at the hunt which his father conducted for the camels, and he knows how to find and capture them. The camels live in the deserts at points too remote from water or food for horses to live for a successful hunt to be conducted, as it would for other game. The water and food for the horses must be hauled long distances into the desert before the hunt can begin. Then horses which are accustomed to the sight of camels must be used in the hunt. Arizona and Mexican horses cannot be used within shooting distance of a camel, and the latter are the most wary of game. Their sense of sight and smell is much keener than that of other wild animals. The latest reports from the wild camels are that they have been seen in the cactus plains in Yuma and Maricopa counties, in the territory, and along the Mexico line near the mesa de Mal Pais, south of the Mal Pais mountains.

The idea of establishing a camel ranch in Kansas came to Mr. Sells after he had acquired possession of sandy land in western Kansas which had been owned by his father. The tract comprises nearly four sections of grazing land, and Mr. Sells believes it will be a good place in which to breed and raise camels for profit. They cost more than elephants and are much easier raised in captivity. Mr. Sells is very desirous of using the Arizona camels as a nucleus of his herd, because they are acclimated and have been increasing in numbers in America. He says the hunting party will leave Topeka in November.

Miss Katherine Doyer.

When you are sick in some part of your body it is because some organ is not doing its work properly.

Every organ of the body is absolutely controlled by the nerves.

Weak, "run down" nerves tell of their condition by stopping the proper action of some one organ, or of several organs, of the body.

Medical science has for the past seventeen years agreed with the teachings of Prof. Edward E. Phelps of Dartmouth University.

Prof. Phelps was the first physician to openly declare twenty years ago that the health of the human body depends entirely upon the health of the nerves.

Prof. Phelps formulated the prescription of Paine's Celery Compound. The first druggist that this prescription was taken to was a man by the name of Paine. One of the principal ingredients of the prescription is the seed of the celery plant.

After two years' trial of the prescription by Prof. Phelps and a number of the leading Massachusetts physicians it was decided to place this prescription before the public.

The formula was sent to every registered physician in the United States. The prescription was named Paine's Celery Compound, and one of the largest and oldest manufacturing chemists in the country, Wells, Richardson & Co., of Burlington, Vt., undertook its production.

Paine's Celery Compound has stood the test of seventeen years' constant use. It has been for the past seventeen years, and is to-day, the most universally used tonic prescription in the world.

A photograph of Miss Katherine Doyer, of Brooklyn, appears at the head of this article. Miss Doyer's experience is given in her own words to illustrate the effective work that Paine's Celery Compound is constantly doing as the curative agent in the nourishing and rebuilding of "rundown" nerves.

"Some time ago I gradually began to grow weak and emaciated; my eyes became dull, my sight poor and my head dizzy. I was restless and nervous and troubled with bad dreams; I had shooting pains in my stomach and suffered nausea after eating. I consulted a physician, who said I had catarrh of the stomach. I took his prescription for nearly six months, but got no better. Hearing so much of Paine's Celery Compound, I decided to try it. It was a fortunate thing for me that I did, for inside of two months I was entirely cured and have never had a return of any nervous troubles since."—Miss Katherine Doyer, 422 Gold St., Brooklyn, N. Y., August 15, 1904.

Paine's Celery Compound is a nerve invigorator, a regulator and an ideal blood cleanser. It takes away the "wear" on the nerves and enables them to work without tearing themselves to pieces, and it prevents the unhealthy reaction of tired nerves on the entire system.

It solves the problem of how to build up the nervous system, as no other remedy has ever done.

It cures the causes of constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, headaches, sleeplessness and every sign of impure blood. Nervousness—whether in the form of headaches, sleeplessness, indigestion, melancholia, irritability or any one of a host of other troubles—is a disease, and as such can be driven from the system by the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

Remember this.—Paine's Celery Compound is the prescription of one of the most famous physicians this country has ever known, and all reputable druggists sell and recommend it.

TAGGART'S LONG RUN.

Incident of the Democratic National Committee Chairman's Youth.

When Tom Taggart, the chairman of the Democratic national committee, was a very young man he was appointed a deputy sheriff, says the Saturday Evening Post. It was his first office, and he determined to do his duty. The morning after the honor fell he was called to the door before breakfast by a neighbor, who excitedly pointed out a man, bareheaded and dressed in old clothes, who was sprinting rapidly down the road.

"Tom," cried the neighbor, "catch him—catch him! He just knocked a man down and half killed him! Nail him 'fore he escapes!"

Tom vaulted over the front gate and started in pursuit. The man was some distance ahead, but Tom was free and ran like a deer. At first he gained on the fellow, but it seemed impossible to come up with him. To Tom's frantic cries to halt in the name of the law the man paid not the least heed.

Tom felt for his revolver, but remembered that he had left it under his pillow. If he went back after it he would lose sight of the man. It was too early for any one to be abroad, so there was no chance to apprehend a posse en route. On they sped, with the ambitious deputy sheriff about 100 yards in the rear.

At the end of a mile or two the fellow turned to the right into a crossroad. This maneuver he repeated four times in succession, and Tom found himself at the end of an hour in the same road in which he had started, but a couple of miles farther down. Here the fleeing criminal made a sudden spurt and left the officer behind. Still Tom struggled desperately on. Finally he met an old friend.

"Say," he gasped with his last breath, "did you see a bareheaded man go by here on the run? He's a murderer, maybe, and I'm after him."

"I ain't seen nobody," replied the friend, "except that Chicago prize fighter who come down here to train. He goes by here 'bout this time every morning. Runs ten miles 'fore break fast to improve his wind, they say."
